

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 12, 2008

A PPG supplier, Polymer Process Development LLC (PPD) has filed a formal recall notice with NHTSA regarding temper level on the NAGS Part Number FB20415 ZPY. The temper level resulted in a noncompliance with certain federal motor vehicle safety standards. This is a replacement backlite for the Lexus RX 300 for the 1999 to 2003 model years. The parts in the recall are marked with DOT430 or DOT628. While the recall submission was made by Polymer Process Development, PPG will manage the customer contacts and replacements for consumers.

PPG stopped selling the DOT430 and DOT628 product as soon as internal testing revealed a potential problem. Additional and conclusive testing was then completed to validate the condition and initiate the recall through NHTSA. PPG will be working with its customers and end users to implement the recall. This is the only part number that PPG was buying that was labeled as DOT430 or DOT628.

Contact:

Doug Sharbaugh

Mgr., Supply Chain Sourcing and Development

N.A. Automotive Aftermarket, PPG Industries

(412) 434-3702

sharbaugh@ppg.com